

Write a Conversation 11

Getting to Know You

You've met someone. You are attracted to them.
You decide to do something fun together.
You want to get to know each other.
Bring up a topic and share information or feelings about it.

Suggested topics:

1. family 2. interests 3. ____ (you choose)

Write your conversation.

Suggested number of lines: 20.

Read your conversation aloud with a partner.

Practice saying each other's conversations.

Perform your conversations for your classmates.

Write a Conversation 12

This Isn't What I Ordered

You're at a restaurant. You place an order, but everything goes wrong. The service is poor. The food, when it comes, isn't what you ordered. It's poorly prepared. You don't have any silverware. The waiter comes by and asks, "Is everything O.K.?"

Write your response to the waiter and the waiter's replies to your complaints.

Suggested number of lines: 15-20.

Find a partner and practice saying your conversation and your partner's, if they have one.

Perform your conversations live or record and play them for your classmates.

